

Weekend

LIGHTHOUSE RESTAURANT

1 Patrick St., On the Waterfront.
Lunch: 11:30 am-2 pm Dinner: 5 pm-9 pm

ST. STEPHEN, N.B.--FRIDAY, JUNE 27, 1997

Second Class Mail (in Canada) -- Registration No. 4304

ast in Maine

f the Maine Drug En-Agency and Maine State stopped and searched e, turning up 72 bags of n estimated street value was enroute to Calais achusetts at the time.

ebel and Fuller were h unlawful trafficking in lass B felony. Fuller was ged with obstructing
t administration, while charged with operating without a license.

According to Darrell Crandall Jr., a supervisor at the Maine Drug Enforcement Agency's field office in Houlton, the women were stopped for driving erratically and Fuller "provided some resistance."

A growing trend

Police say the incident highlights a growing trend in heroin use across Canada and New England.

According to a spokesman with
Continued on A-2

strikes - y lucky to be alive

as at its peak. His mother, nsmore, said her son
ver to turn off the light ing crackled through the e.
he touched it, the house
f blue light," she said.
f he felt the pain right
n."
re was taken to hospital heart was monitored for standard procedure after what doctors call "an indirect lightning strike."

Densmore said her son is feeling better but still has pain in his muscles and joints.

"It gave him quite a scare," she said.
Doctors said Jason's size likely saved him from more severe injury.

"They said he was very lucky he wasn't a small child," Densmore

Continued on A-2

matter

more councillors the merrier

Violinist Julie Bastien plays a tune for diners at the Shiretown Inn in St. Andrews. She's there six days a week for six hours a day. (Gary MacDougall photo)